OVER NINETY MISSING

As Result of the Columbia-San Pedro Collision.

SIXTEEN MORE ARE SAVED

Boat Lands at Shelter Cove With Sixteen Survivors of the Wreck and Two Dead Bodies—Women Praised and Men Denounced.

San Francisco, July 24.—Sixteen names have been added to the list of survivors of the Columbia-San Pedro collision. These sixteen passengers were in a boat which landed at Shelter Cove. The boat also contained two dead bodies, that of Mrs. O. A. Lewis of Pasadena, Cal., and an unknown man, presumably a sailor.

The list of survivors now includes 169 names out of a reported total of 257 persons on board. Three dead bodies have been recovered. Ninety-seven persons are unaccounted for.

The passengers added to the list of survivors are B. B. Kriever, Prescott, Ia.; Jacob Kuro, Coldwater, Kan.; Armand Cardoete, New Bedford, Mass.; O. A. Lewis, Pasadena, Cal.; Edwin Wallin, San Francisco; Mrs. Winklerblock Dunn, Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Mrs. W. H. Angela, Oakland, Cal.; Miss Blanche W. Musser, Salt Lake; Miss Ruby Cooper, Fayette, Mo.; Michael Redman, San Francisco; B. W. Braham, Portland, Ore.

Of the crew of the Columbia the following have been added to the list of survivors:

David Boston, fireman; Charles McCoy, oiler; D. S. McAlpin, watchman; Emil Mann, sailor; Paul Hinner, quartermaster.

Three of the officers of the Columbia who arrived here on the steamer Pomona made statements under oath to inspectors of Hulls and Boilers Bolles and Bulger. Second Officer Richard Agerupp said:

Weather Was Foggy.

"At 12 o'clock Saturday, July 20, I relieved First Officer W. F. Whitney on the bridge of the Columbia, being sixty-eight miles north of Point Arena by the ship's log and steering north-west 3/4 north by pilot house compass. Captain Doran was also on the bridge, as the weather was foggy, but he went down to his room for about two minutes, then he returned to the bridge again.

"About 12:15 a. m. Sunday I heard a whistle on the starboard bow and I reported to the captain, who said he had heard it too. We kept our whistle going regularly and so did the other steamer.

"We were going full speed ahead, as shown by the indicator on the bridge. The captain ordered me to blow two blasts. While blowing the second blast the other steamer answered with one blast. The captain then ordered the engineer 'full speed astern.' His order was given from the engine room and the captain himself blew three whistles. Soon after the steamer collided with the Columbia and struck her about thirty feet from the stem on the starboard side. This was about 12:22, as I looked at the clock."

Agerupp said that in a few moments the water poured into the vessel forward and she listed to starboard and started to go down by the head. The boats were then gotten over and the life rafts were cut adrift. By this time the bridge was nearly under water and Agerupp seized a life buoy and jumped into the sea just as the Columbia sank. He was picked up by a boat thirty minutes later.

In his report Third Officer Robert Hawse tells of the rescue of a number of passengers and takes occasion to praise some women who were in his boat, while he condemns the action of men survivors who were with him.

Praises Women Survivors.

"When I was aroused by the shock of the collision," says Hawse, "I rushed on deck and heard Captain Doran give orders to lower the boats on the lee side, at the same time shouting 'women and children first.' I hurried to the lee side and lowered boat six. I directed the loading of the boat, and when we pulled away there were fifteen persons in it. We rowed to the San Pedro and placed the passengers aboard. Upon returning to the scene of the collision we passed many rafts and could have filled the boat at once, but were afraid they would swamp us and decided to pick up the isolated men and women who were struggling as best they could on pieces of wreckage and with life preservers. We took four women and six men in the boat. One of the women was slightly clad and delirious. We again went to the San Pedro, but they refused to take any more people aboard, saying the vessel was crowded. Even though I urged them owing to the condition of the women, my request was not granted.

"I made the women as comfortable as I could. My only trouble was with the delirious woman. The other three behaved well. I have nothing but praise for the women who were with me and nothing but the lowest contempt for the men who would do nothing to make more bearable the condition of the women.

"We rowed around until daylight and I had made arrangements with the captain of the San Pedro to take two of the women aboard. I planned to sail ashore and summon assistance, but by that time the George W. Elder came in sight and we were taken aboard."

VICTIM OF BLACKMAILERS

Murder of New York Merchant Laid to Armenian Band.

New York, July 24.—Scenting a motive for the murder of H. S. Tavshanjian, the Armenian rug merchant, the district attorney's office was led to an investigation of a report that Tavshanjian was one of ten wealthy Armenians who had been marked for slaughter if they failed to give up $10,000 each to a blackmailing band of their countrymen.

No color was given to this theory by Hernos Hampartoomian, who killed the rug man, when the prisoner was arraigned. In court he maintained a stolid indifference, waived examination and was remanded to the coroner. Later he made a statement to a representative of the district attorney. He declared that he had come here from Chicago for the express purpose of killing Tavshanjian, but that the crime was instigated by no one and no other person or society was involved.

From other sources, carefully protected by the authorities, came information of a startling character. This is to the effect that a secret society of Armenians, originally organized for what the members held to be patriotic, though revolutionary purposes, had degenerated into an instrument for blackmail. The organization had branches in other cities, but recently many of these branches had disbanded while the better element withdrew from all connection with the society.

The killing of Tavshanjian and other merchants, it was stated, was planned more than a year ago. They received letters which they interpreted as meaning that they must pay or take the consequences. The threatened men discussed the matter at a meeting arranged to decide what they should do. Many were in favor of acceding to the demands.

CARRY OUT SUICIDE PACT

Two Young Women Take Their Lives at Burlington, Ia.

Burlington, Ia., July 24.—What is believed to have been a suicide pact between two young women in Burlington ended fatally to one and will probably end so with the other.

Miss Esther Taylor of Wapello, aged twenty-three years, drank carbolic acid in a hotel here and died.

Mrs. Thomas Johnson of Burlington turned the gas on in her room about the same time and is not expected to live. She also is twenty-three years old.

The two were friends and it is believed love troubles led them to agree to commit the deed.

Brick Building Collapses.

New York, July 24.—A brick building on the southwest corner of Fifty-eighth street and Broadway, one of a row of six-story structures that are being torn down, collapsed, burying twenty workmen. Two men were seriously injured.

MASS MEETINGS HELD

Striking Miners in Minnesota Discuss the Situation.

GET AFTER INDEPENDENTS

Mines Not Controlled by Steel Corporation Compelled to Close Down Governor Johnson Will Make an Investigation of the Trouble.

Duluth, July 24.—Mass meetings were the rule on the Mesaba range Tuesday to consider the strike situation. At Hibbing a large meeting was addressed by Teofil Petriella, the noted Socialist orator. He took occasion to score all those who have denounced the Western Federation of Miners as anarchists and urged all of the strikers to stand firm and they would win. At Bovey and Coleraine, on the Western Mesaba, a crowd of Western Federation miners invaded the two towns and were promptly bundled into wagons and driven to Grand Rapids with the promise that if they returned it would be made decidedly uncomfortable for them.

For the first time since the strike began several of the strikers were seen at some of the mining properties in the Hibbing district bearing rifles. They did not carry them long, however, as the force of deputy sheriffs there convinced them that it was unwise.

The strikers at first directed their movements against the United States Steel corporation alone, but later the miners at the independent mines were told to lay down their tools and join in the walkout. This they did in many instances.

Strikers on the March.

Several hundred strikers started from Virginia and are now marching over the Mesaba forcing the miners to stop work wherever they find signs of industry.

The independent miners all over the range are being practically compelled to quit work by the crowd which is parading the highways and swooping down upon mines.

The steel corporation mines on the Vermillion range are working as usual but early Tuesday notices were posted at all of them calling upon the men to walk out.

Governor Johnson is expected here soon in response to a letter written by Sheriff Bates, who wishes his excellency to view the situation personally so that he will understand if it becomes necessary to call for troops. Sheriff Bates claims to have full control at present but with the blind pigs inciting the Finns and Italians on the range together with the talk of the agitators he is not at all positive that he will be able to hold the position long.

At Eveleth a band of 3,000 strikers marched through town and to the various properties in the vicinity and the result was a complete shutdown. Men who wished to remain at work were informed that they had better get on the band wagon and avoid trouble.

VIOLATED AGREEMENT.

George W. Perkins Talks About Strike of Minnesota Miners.

New York, July 24.—George W. Perkins, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation, was asked whether the corporation would be likely to make any concessions to the striking miners in Minnesota. He said:

"It is not a question of concessions now. These men have struck in violation of their agreement, which was to be in force until Oct. 31, and without giving us proper notice of their intentions, not even a reasonable time to consider the matter contained in their letter of demands."

INTERNATIONAL INQUIRY.

May Follow the Shooting of a Canadian Woman.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 24.—There may be an international inquiry over the accidental shooting of Miss Elizabeth Cadenhead of Fergus, Ont., by Private Gillette at Fort Brady, who had shot at an escaping deserter. Officers at the fort have declined to surrender Private Cyrus Gillette to Sheriff Pipsett, pending orders from the secretary of war, to whom the accident has been reported.

The British government has engaged Attorney E. S. B. Sutton of this city to represent the crown in the inquest. Mr. Sutton says that while he does not expect international complications, the crown will watch the proceedings closely and a complete record of the proceedings will be forwarded to Ottawa. Local sympathy is with Gillette, who merely followed orders in firing at the deserter.

Five Blocks Burned.

Seattle, Wash., July 24.—Five blocks have been destroyed by fire at Victoria, B. C. Loss, $250,000.

FORTY LABORERS IN PERIL

Narrowly Escape Death by Drowning in a Sewer.

New York, July 24.—Forty laborers ran, swam and fought for their lives when the new sewer in West Forty-sixth street was flooded and but for the coolness of Foreman Ben Connors all would have perished. The men were working in the tube, which is eight feet in diameter, a block in length and forty feet below the surface. Suddenly a break occurred in the old sewer above them and the escaping water poured into the open end of the tube. The only exit was at the opposite end, where an air shaft led to the surface.

A moment after a stream first trickled into the tube the flood came and when the men turned to run the water was at their knees and rapidly rising. Then the men, panic-stricken, ran for the shaft and in running fell over each other. When half way to the shaft the water was at their waists. Screaming and fighting, the men wedged themselves into a helpless mass and all were in imminent peril of drowning. Then Connors, who had led the way to the shaft, took a hand and, using an ugly club, threatened to smite every man if they did not obey him. Then he ordered them to form four abreast and march. Some marched but more swam, as by that time the water had reached the necks of the taller, while those of lesser height had been swept from their feet. One by one the men gained the shaft and climbed the ladder to the street. Connors was the last to leave the sewer and when he did he rose from six feet of water.

POSITIVE AND FINAL.

Is the Abdication of the Emperor of Korea.

Seoul, Korea, July 24.—The cabinet's report to Marquis Ito of the former emperor's new pledge of abdication, in form positive and final, was published editorially and reversed the widespread impression that the first instance was not one of abdication but of "imperial contortion." Ito's subservient cabinet in an all night engagement with the former emperor wrung from him the verbal admission of the validity of his casual abdication and secured his signature to a classification proclamation to the people, also an acknowledgment of the mikado's congratulations to him as emperor de facto, which had been resisted by the deposed ruler.

The working members of the cabinet who enjoy Ito's protection and patronage are passing in and out of the palace with a guard exclusively Japanese. The work of the cabinet will not be finished until the ex-emperor is exiled from Seoul. This, the next step, if accomplished without the poisoning of the deposed ruler or some other similar tragedy will be a landmark in Korean history.

Viscount Hayashi, the foreign minister of Japan, whose presence in Korea at this time supports Ito, in an interview in the administration paper is understood to suggest a council of state with power to act for the elimination of interference by the throne.

COLONEL HAYS IS DEAD.

Famous Song Writer and Poet Passes Away at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., July 24.—Colonel Will S. Hays, the veteran river editor of the Courier-Journal, song writer and poet, died at his home here of vertigo, caused by a stroke of paralysis suffered in the Iroquois theater fire in Chicago. He was seventy years old. Colonel Hays has always claimed the authorship of the original words of "Dixie" and that he was responsible for the arrangement of the music. His version of Dixie was written at the outbreak of the Civil war, but the words were considered so seditious that the writer was arrested and compelled to change them. By that time, it is said, Dan Emmet, the minstrel, had written his song and his publisher had it copyrighted. Colonel Hays' most famous song was "Molly Darling."

FOX'S STRAWBERRY FEAST.

Reynard Daintily Nips the Fruit, Despite an Interruption.

Harry Hobbs, a fruit grower, of Jackson township, near Allentown, Pa., had a most novel experience recently when he caught a thief at work in his strawberry patch, says an Allentown dispatch to the Philadelphia Record.

He had engaged the services of a boy who was to come that morning to pick berries, and later in the day when he went to see how the boy was getting along he noticed something crouching between the rows, which act seemed quite unlike that of a boy picking strawberries.

As he approached nearer he noticed that it was a red fox and that he was very busy. He yelled at him, but the animal paid no heed. The fox would creep along between the rows, and, seeing a luscious berry, would nip it off daintily.

The fox was so intent upon the feast of strawberries that he only leisurely took to his heels when the farmer was a few feet away.

H. F. MICHAEL CO.

STORM IN WISCONSIN.

Damaged Property Valued at Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars.

La Crosse, Wis., July 24.—Telephone communication with the flood-stricken districts in La Crosse, Vernon, Monroe and Crawford counties is being restored.

Not a farm in the La Crosse, Coon and Upper Kickapoo river valleys has escaped damage. The damage to the five railroads centering at La Crosse will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars and almost every bridge has been taken out.

The fatality list was increased by the name of Charles Thompson, son of Mrs. Sam Olson, living between Bristol and Purdy, Vernon county. The boy, who was nine years old, was carried away on a chicken coop but lost his head and drowned.

All railroads into Viroqua are tied up by washouts and there will be no train service out of the city for at least a week. In the town of Jefferson in Vernon county six large iron bridges have been taken out on the wagon roads.

The village of Lafarge is almost entirely under water and an estimate of the damage cannot be made at this time. Viola was not reached by the flood until Sunday evening, but a great amount of damage was done.

At Coon Valley the mill has been washed away. At Avalanche the large cheese factory owned by the farmers was taken away and the plant of the woolen mills also was washed away.

SAVES TWO WOMEN.

Veteran Inventor Prevents Double Drowning.

Morristown, N. J., July 24.—Hudson Maxim, the inventor of Brooklyn, plunged into Lake Hopatcong and brought two drowning young women ashore. The rescue was made off Maxim park, where the inventor has a summer cottage. The women are still in a serious condition from exhaustion and shock. They are Miss Anna Marx of Ancona Lodge and Miss Susie Williams, a maid at the Maxim cottage.

With other young women, Miss Marx was seized with cramps. Miss Williams, who heard her cries, swam to the aid of the helpless girl, but was herself soon dragged beneath the water by the drowning girl. At this moment, Maxim, who has but one arm, appeared on the scene and swam for the struggling women. Reaching them, the veteran inventor turned on his back and grabbing them, brought them ashore.

Mr. Mixim was the first man to make smokeless powder in the United States. He also invented Maximite.

Six Deaths From Heat.

St. Louis, July 24.—During the past twenty-four hours six deaths from heat and fifteen prostrations have been reported. The temperature registered 83 degrees Tuesday afternoon but a brief shower increased the humidity and rendered the heat more oppressive.

ROCKEFELLER ON GOLF.

Oil King Gets Enthusiastic and Speaks Highly of Egan's Play.

John D. Rockefeller, who has attended the amateur championship golf tournament on the Euclid links at Cleveland, O., every day, has grown enthusiastic over the different plays and players. He followed H. Chandler Egan the other day, and a stenographer followed him, taking down his conversation verbatim, says a Cleveland dispatch to the New York Tribune. It was printed as follows:

"I have long been a devotee of the game of golf. I thoroughly believe there is no sport in existence which does so much to develop in man his best traits of character. It brings out all that is good in him and kills off the bad. It promotes right living, and, after all, that is the one thing we must all work to bring about.

"Egan is in perfect form today. Look at that splendid drive from the second tee. There it goes on to the green, only a few feet from the flag. Fine work!

"Did you see how easy he made his swing? Not a bit of wasted effort. The carry through was splendid, and this is what gives him the distance. He has caution in every shot that he takes. He plans just what he expects to do, and then he has the nerve and the skill to make his plan successful. He entirely lacks one of the greatest faults of most of our golfers. He never takes his eye off the ball. I like his face. His eye is clear and his hand steady. He has self control. You do not see him lose his temper when he is unfortunate enough to get into difficulty. His play out of trouble is marvelous. Now he is about to try for that difficult put. I wish people would not talk at such a time. There is nothing that so disconcerts a player as talking when he is about to make a shot. Golf etiquette demands absolute silence at such a time.

"Mr. Egan has remarkable judgment as to distance and direction. See that shot, for instance. It was a perfect approach. He uses irons as well as any one I have ever seen play. He has a difficult put for a three. It will be too bad if he misses. Oh, that was magnificent! He has dropped his ball twenty feet from the hole. There, he has missed a three foot put by two inches. But that was not lack of skill. He was unfortunate.

"There's a beautiful drive. See that brassie on the green in two. He has a ten foot put to be at bogie. Hurray, he made it! That was great. You do not know how pleased I am."

Record Will Not Stand.

New York, July 22.—The mark made by Matt McGrath in the 16-pound hammer throw at Celtic park Saturday will not stand as a record. The New York Athletic club member won the event with a fling of 173 feet, 9 inches, but subsequent measurement showed the hammer handle to be one inch over the regulation length of four feet.

J. M. HALLETT
DIED TODAY
Oldest Employee of the Minnesota
& International Passed Away at His Home
CAUSED BY BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Mr. Hallett was Well Known and Universally Liked Throughout the City

"Si Hallett is Dead." were the words that were passed from mouth to mouth shortly before noon today, and always with an intonation denoting personal sorrow and loss. Mr. J. M. Hallett was one of those with whom all men were friends and whose opened hearted joviality caused him to be affectionately called by his abbreviated given name as naturally as it is for others to be addressed formally. Death was caused by Bright's disease, he having been sick for two or three months.

Josiah M. Hallett was born in Oakland, Me., April 1, 1856. He was married in Dover, Maine, November 15, 1879, to Hattie Emma Lanpher, who survives to mourn him. To them were born two daughters, one of whom died in infancy and the other is Mrs. Mabel, wife of P. G. Clarkston, of Duluth.

In April 1880 Mr. Hallett came to Minnesota, settling at Gull River, where he was employed as a steamboat engineer for the old Northern Lumber company. When they decided to build their Gull Lake railroad, in 1889 or 1900, which was the forerunner of the Minnesota & International, he was in charge of the work of building a temporary track from Sylvan to Gull to take over the first locomotive, and has been with the company ever since. He worked as fireman during the following winter and the next spring running a logging locomotive for the Gull Lake logging road. He pulled the first train of logs ever brought into Brainerd and pulled the first regular train into every terminal on the Minnesota & International. He was the oldest man in point of service on the road in any department, and was a man who counted his fellow employees as his friends and was very popular with them all.

He was a member of several of the Masonic bodies having taken the Knight Templar degrees but a few weeks before he was taken sick. He was also a member of the B. P. O. E. and also of the Royal Arcanum. He will be laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery with full Masonic honors, the Elks and Royal Arcanum attending also as escorts in all probability. The funeral will be at the Congregational church at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Besides his widow, daughter and her husband and brother Lee, who were at his bedside when death came, he has a sister, Mrs. Olive Stevens, and two brothers, Elias and Howard Hallett, living in Maine.

CHURCH BASE BALL LEAGUE

Games on McKay Grounds at 7 p. m.

	Played	Won	Lost	Pct
Catholics	5	5	0	1000
First Cong.	4	3	1	750
Pres.	7	3	4	429
People's	5	3	2	600
Y. M. C. A. 1st	6	2	4	333
Y. M. C. A. 2d	5	0	5	000

The Catholics came mighty near losing that pretty 1000 per cent in the church league last night in one of the evenest, clearest games of the season. Barron says the Irish can't be beat, however, and their good luck pulled them through. The game was marked by none of the wrangling which has marred some of the games was marked by some fine paying, though there was the usual run of errors. Clem Willis went in the box for the Catholics but was replaced in the second inning by Bush. Wilson wore the mask for the Catholics. For the Presbyterians Erickson did the pitching and Quinn Parker was behind the bat. The Catholics went to bat first and Wilson was put out, then Willis hit to Sundberg who made a wild throw to first and the ball got lost in the grass and Willis scored. Burns and Bush then got out. In their half the Presbyterians got Parker across the plate, Erickson and Hurley dying on bases and Northrup, Dubar and Sundberg drawing the goose eggs. In the second the Catholics were shut out, while the Presbyterians secured three scores. In the third the Catholics took three while their opponents scored only one, leaving the latter still one to the good. In the fourth the Presbyterians were given the goose eggs while the Catholics got two and had the lead but in the first half of the fifth the Presbyterians tied the score. In the second half Bush got over the plate and the game was over. Arthur Lagerquist umpired and gave satisfaction to both sides. The following are the score by inning and the lineup:

Catholics	1 0 3 2 1-7
Presbyterians	1 3 1 0 1-6
Presbyterian	Catholics
Parker	Wilson
Erickson	p Willis, Bush
Northrup	1b Burns
Dubar	2b Bush, Willis
Sundberg	3b Olson
Hurley	ss Barron
Deering	lf Ousdahl
Foster	cf Bennett
Olson	rf Joyal

The Congregationalists and the 2nd Y team play tonight. The status of the game to have been played by the Presbyterians and the First Y team was forfeited by the non appearance of the former team.

Sylvester Searfoss Met Death

ENGINE STRUCK CAR OF OIL

Bodies of Himself and Fireman
Pinned in Wreck Five Hours
Before Released

The wreck in which Sylvester Searfoss formerly an engineer on the N. P. Ry. and well known in this city, lost his life yesterday, was one of the most spectacular and peculiar that ever occurred in the Northwest. The Minneapolis Journal contained two pictures of the wreck and says of it:

Trapped in a wreck high in the air on the Belt Line bridge, crushed by a flying locomotive tender which made them prisoners in a burning engine cab, Sylvester L. Searfoss and Alfred Parker, engineer and fireman on a Minneapolis & Western switching train, were instantly killed early today in a collision at the east end of the bridge.

The train backed into a string of runaway cars that had rolled on the bridge, the concussion hurling the tender from its trucks into the engine cab and jamming a carload of oil up on the trucks of the tender. The crashing of the oil barrels threw the inflammable liquid over the engine and into the firebox, where it ignited, and in an instant the flames enveloped the wrecked pile. Parker was at that moment stoking the engine and the crash came while the firebox door was ajar. Both he and Searfoss were hurled against the hot boiler head and held there by the tender. They were undoubtedly killed by the force that threw their bodies against the boiler head, but the tender bent the cab forward and blocked the exit so that there would have been no chance of escape from the flames had the men survived the first shock.

Painting on Metal.

Carl Lunde, a Norwegian artist, has made himself famous by painting on metal, an art even the Japanese have failed in, great as they are as metal workers. Lunde decorates ordinary tin with characteristic designs in colors and illuminates an ordinary tray or plate that would otherwise be cheaply japanned. The method is his secret and only one of many clevernesses he employs to render utility artistic and decorative.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Frank Mahara's Minstrels Tonight

The Frank Mahara minstrels, who are at the Brainerd opera house tonight are giving good satisfaction to a large class of amusement seekers who find entertainment in this class of attraction. They recently played an entire week at the Walker theatre in Winnipeg, Man., and the following comments were clipped from the papers of that city:

"They give one of the brightest and best performances ever presented in this city by a company of colored minstrels. The special feature of the entertainment is the music."

"This company is infinitely superior to any of its kind that has ever appeared in this city."

"There are any number of musical selections on the program, and some real clean and good fun, also graceful dancing. Several pretty and talented young colored women appear and add to the refinement of the entertainment."

During the summer kidney irregularities are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. H. P. Dunn & Co. mwfdw

Cong. Lindbergh Doubts That all
Indians Should be Given
Full Citizenship

VISITS WALKER AND CASS LAKE

Says Forest Reserves Should be Restricted Within Practical Limits

Little Falls Transcript.—Congressman C. A. Lindbergh returned Thursday from Walker and the northern part of the state, where he went on official business. While at Walker he had an opportunity to acquaint himself more thoroughly and at first hand, with the work of the Indian reservation and with the Indian wards of the government included in the Sixth congressional district. In an interview with a Transcript representative Friday morning Mr. Lindbergh said, in regard to his visit on the Indian reservation:

"The knowledge one gets on a trip so short in time is mostly from others. My visit at Leech Lake Indian agency and an observance of the surroundings impressed me with the earnestness of the work of Hon. J. T. Frater in the study of the Indian character. I am indebted to Mr. Frater for a few characteristics of the Chippewas, which probably would hold good for most other tribes. He believes the Chippewas, with few exceptions, are not suited to the duties of full citizenship. They are very crude and simple and do not have the steady purpose that would make them self-sustaining. To make them citizens would be a calamity to them and unfortunate for the state and especially for the counties where they live, for a large percentage would become paupers. Many of them contract consumption when they live in close houses. The government should go slowly in extending citizenship. This state, having about 8,000 Indians, should use its utmost influence to the end of a proper solution of the Indian question. "Notwithstanding the simplicity of the Indian there is in him the subtlest originality. Many incidents were stated to me of the methods of dealing with original questions, language, justice, etc. I call attention to one on justice. A poor widowed squaw possessed a small garden inclosed by a pretense for a fence. A neighbor Indian possessed a pony that had a friendly inclination for the widow's cabbage and a disrespect for the quality of the fence. One evening his ponyship proceeded to enforce his feelings by tangible action, demolished the fence, trampled down some potatoes and dined on cabbage; whereupon the widow filed complaint with the Indian court composed of Ching-wah-wah-quad, Ne gua-ne-binais (Chief Flat Mouth.) There were not cogs enough in my memory to hold the name of the third member. The court heard the evidence which was undisputed and made the following decree:

First, the owner of the pony shall deliver to her widowship three pounds of nails.

Second, her widowship shall make use of the nails and surround her garden with a fence that will command the future respect of his ponyship.

Third, when such fence is made, and not before, the owner of his ponyship shall do substantial justice by the delivery to her widowship of one pail of potatoes and five heads of cabbage.

Your readers may muster up any technical knowledge they may have to consider if the decree would have been more substantial if it had been tagged with the sign of modern civilization, $ Undoubtedly had the widow been made widow by the pony's having kicked out her husband's brains on that same rampage, and if the pony's owner had been a buck, the decree would have a fourth finding as follows:

Fourth, the pony's owner shall take the place of the widow's deceased lord, thereby reinvesting himself with the pail of potatoes and the five cabbages.

I mention the decision as characteristic of Indians. In our courts we measure with $, love and affection, hate, pain, pleasure and sorrow; in fact everything. Which is the greater fiction, the Indian decree or our own?"

When asked concerning the attitude of the state toward the government forest reserve question, Mr. Lindbergh said:

"The people in the north end of the state are deeply concerned in the forest reserve proposition. They feel that a large forest reserve will retard development there. They have been induced by long established policy and even by department proclamations to settle on farms, build villages and towns with a supposed certainty of future development in accordance with natural conditions; and now the proposition to draw a line around them and say, "Here progress shall cease and wilderness prevail," is practically a confiscation of their prospects. They are willing to contribute more than is common to wilderness, forest, parks, etc., but do not want that part of the state dwarfed by exclusive forest reserve. The north end of the state has large amounts of fine farming lands and a climate that makes it superb for residence. There are sufficient advantages to furnish homes to a very large population with such advantages for life, prosperity and happiness as few places in the country can equal. The nation can hardly afford to deprive many people from these advantages to make a park and forest reserve that only a few of the better situated can enjoy. After a proper provision is made to control the waters to the best advantage it will be better to select a series of special suited district that will not retard the advantages of the common people. In fact, a careful selection of many small reserves will be an advantage to all people, whereas one great tract for a reserve will be principally a park for the comparatively few can afford to take advantage of it."

Kelley, of Marshfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." PREMATURE EXPLOSION.

Kills One Soldier and Injures Four Others.

Fort Terry, Plum Island, N. Y., July 24.—By a premature explosion of a blank charge of one of the six-inch rifle guns at Battery Bradford at this fort Private Hammond of the One Hundredth artillery was killed and four others were injured, one seriously. The injured are:
Sergeant B. Wanks, who may lose the sight of both eyes, and Private Hayes, both of the One Hundredth company; Private J. McHugh and Professor J. McHugh, a brother, burned on the face. The two last named are members of the New York National Guard. Hammond received the full charge. The men were engaged in repelling an imaginary enemy. It is believed the blank was placed in the open breach and a burning ember left there ignited the powder.

PART OF CONSPIRACY

Attorney Richardson Discusses Murder of Steunenberg.

FORSAKES REVENGE THEORY

Declares Orchard Was Hired by Pinkertons to Commit the Crime, Which Was Part of a Conspiracy to Hang William D. Haywood.

Boise, Ida., July 24.—Forsaking the theory of vengeance as Orchard's motive for the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg, E. F. Richardson argued that Orchard was in the employ of the Pinkerton detective agency when he killed Steunenberg and that the murder was a part of a conspiracy to hang Haywood. This sudden departure was followed by a tremendous denunciation of Captain James McParland and the Pinkertons and passionate vituperation of Orchard. Governor Gooding of Idaho, Senator Borah, Governor Peabody of Colorado and all who have acted on the side of the prosecution of Haywood came in for a share of the avalanche of Richardson's peroration.

Mr. Richardson denounced and charged the Pinkerton detective agency with a systematic plot to secure the conviction of Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone as a means to the desired extermination of the Western Federation of Miners.

Declaring Harry Orchard was a man possessed with a lust for murder—a desire to glut a disordered brain with blood of his fellow man—Attorney Richardson told the jury that the defense was ready and willing to admit that Orchard accomplished the taking off of Governor Steunenberg in the manner described by him on the witness stand.

Orchard was painted as a man who fancied there was glory in spectacular crime. Day after day opportunity was presented to him to kill Steunenberg in comparative safety to himself, but rather than shoot a man whose giant stature, the attorney said, offered a target as "big as the side of a barn door," Orchard planted a bomb and planned the deed so that it might attract the greatest amount of attention.

Orchard Had a Motive.

Richardson asserted that Orchard had a motive against Steunenberg for the real or fancied loss of his interest in the Hercules mine through being driven out of the Coeur d'Alenes.

Of Orchard's story of many of his attempts upon the lives of men said to have been marked for death by the federation Mr. Richardson said it was the most absurd thing on the face of the earth. He declared that it would be a long time before the law would sanction a conviction on such testimony as has been adduced against Haywood and he pleaded with the jury not to put a halter about the neck of his client "at the behest of the Mine Owners' association and its representatives."

As to the disappearance of Jack Simpkins following the death of Governor Steunenberg, Attorney Richardson said he, too, would have fled to hiding under similar circumstances, although there was not an iota of evidence to connect Simpkins with the crime. Simpkins had had one experience in an Idaho bull pen and his only safety was in flight.

Clarence Darrow will next commence his argument in Haywood's behalf. It is expected he will require two days to close for the defense.

Dr. I. L. McGee, the witness for the defense who was arrested charged with perjury, was discharged by the magistrate before whom the preliminary hearing was held. The justice ruled that the evidence was insufficient to hold McGee. Orchard was on the stand again as a witness in the McGee case.

Great Lincoln Rally.

July 20, 1860, forty-seven years ago, a great tri-county Lincoln rally was held on the Stove farm, in the northeast corner of Jersey, where Macoupin and Greene touch her borders, says the Jerseyville Republican. Owen P. Lovejoy was the orator of the day. The speech he delivered on that occasion obtained national fame. Lincoln often quoted from this speech, and in 1888 Robert G. Ingersoll declared that Lovejoy's speech was the greatest political address ever delivered on the continent. General John M. Palmer presided at the meeting. Though there were no railroads in that section of the state at that time, the crowd that assembled was so large there was difficulty in feeding them. They came in wagons from fifty miles distant. The old pit, where seven beaves and fourteen sheep were barbecued, is still in evidence. Arrangements are being made for observing the forty-seventh anniversary on July 23, 1907.

Kills Her Sweetheart.

Michigan City, Ind., July 24.—Miss Flora Grey, twenty years of age, shot and killed her sweetheart, James Brown, as the result of a jealous quarrel. After killing Brown, the woman attempted to shoot herself.

Tried to Pass Counterfeit Bill.

Balbao, Spain, July 24.—An American giving the name of Duryea was arrested here while trying to get change for a counterfeit $500 American bank note. When examined counterfeit bills to the face value of $50,000 were found in his possession.

ARRIVE AT PHILADELPHIA.

More Than Fifty Glidden Tourists Still Have Perfect Scores.

Philadelphia, July 24.—More than fifty automobilists participating in the Glidden tour from Cleveland to New York arrived here from Baltimore with perfect scores. A. E. Hughes of the Rhode Island Automobile club was the first contestant to enter the city. He was given the first position in leaving Baltimore, because he is a Philadelphian. The distance from Baltimore is 171 miles and with the exception of a few miles the roads were reported in good condition. The "confetti cars," or pathfinders, arrived at 2:30 o'clock. They were occupied by A. N. Reynolds, G. A. Krone and Dal Lewis, secretary of the touring board of the American Automobile association, and by R. T. McNamara, M. C. Reeves and Henry Johnson. The official pilot car arrived about 2:40 o'clock. Mrs. Cuneo, who met with an accident before reaching Baltimore and who is the only woman driver among the contestants, is still competing.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

City Salesman of a Sioux City Firm Commits Suicide.

Sioux City, Ia., July 24.—Short in his accounts and pressed by his employers to make a settlement, George H. Berkey, city salesman for the wholesale grocery firm of the Tolerton & Warfield company, shot himself in the toilet room at the grocery house and died instantly.

Engineer and Firemen Killed.

Minneapolis, July 24.—Both plumed against the hot boiler of their engine by the tender which had been forced through their cab, Sylvester L. Searfoss, engineer, and Alfred Parker, fireman of the Minneapolis Western railroad, were instantly killed in a freight wreck on the belt line bridge over the Mississippi river near the university campus. A switch engine backed into their engine and wrecked it.

More Men Join Strikers.

Des Moines, Ia., July 24.—About 125 car repairers, cleaners and attendants employed in the Rock Island shops and yards here and at Valley Junction joined the strikers on other points of the system and walked out.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Fire at Anamoose, N. D., destroyed property valued at $44,000.

Great Britain has lost the Davis cup, the coveted international tennis trophy, which has passed into the custody of Australia.

James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco company, was married Tuesday to Mrs. Nanaline Holt Inman in Brooklyn.

WOMEN TO PLAY BALL.

University Summer School to Teach Them Essentials of Baseball.

A course in baseball for women is one of the latest novelties in a university curriculum. This course, which is given for the first time this year in any university, is being conducted by the department of physical training of the New York university summer school and was introduced to meet a big demand on the part of women to learn the essentials of the national game, for women and girls are no longer content to let the men and boys monopolize this game and are beginning not merely to have a desire to know why a batter is out on the third strike, but also to play the game themselves. In fact, a special adaptation of baseball is already being played by thousands of girls, who have regular teams and interclass and interschool series. The game as played by the girls is known as indoor baseball and is played with a large ball and is less violent in its demands. The rules, however, are much the same, and the girls who play the indoor game can go to the outdoor game and understand the niceties of bunts and stealing and doubles as well as their little brothers who are no less ardent fans.

The university summer school, therefore, in its courses for women teachers of physical training and playground directors has instituted special training which will enable the women to coach indoor teams. Some of the women teachers, however, explained that they would like to learn something of the outdoor regular game because they could in this way help boys at their playgrounds who could not get men to coach their nines. In consequence many of these women teachers are being taken out on the university diamond and taught the theory of standing at the bat, of handling grounders and of playing the different positions. The women of course do not actually play the outdoor game. When asked if she could teach pitching one of the women replied: "I have learned the theory of making a ball curve, and I can show this to my boys. But for women with their unaccustomed shoulders actual pitching is an impossibility. Still I think that it will help my playground for me to know how ball ought to be played, even if I can't play it expertly myself. And by being able to talk intelligently about their pet games I get into much closer touch with them."

SOCIETY'S PET FLOWER.

Women of Smart Set in Rivalry Over Cultivation of Dahlias.

Whatever the shortcomings of the Four Hundred the members of this overadvised body cannot be charged with neglect of flowers, says the New York Press. It is a hopeful sign in a woman to find her fond of flowers, and women of the Four Hundred seldom have been seen in a happier light than at present, when they are engaged in rivalry over the cultivation of dahlias.

The dahlia is a common plant in Europe, in many parts growing wild. It is a rarer plant in the United States, and as it belongs almost exclusively in the hothouse it has been developed to a beauty not approached in the most favorite spot abroad. There is some doubt as to the one who receives the credit for the sudden growth in popularity of the plant. The Vanderbilt conservatories are now stocked with it. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt has marked the dahlia as her favorite flower, and so with Mrs. Clarence Mackay. Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney is another lover of the dahlia, chiefly because of its rainbow tints and its rare value for decorative purposes.

Mrs. Mackay seems to have the lead in the friendly rivalry just now, for she has a dozen plants of truly surpassing beauty. The hearts of the flowers are of variegated brown, with the long, soft, golden petals tapering off to white. The secret of the variety belongs alone to Mrs. Mackay and the Mackay horticulturist, and the Mackay country place in Roslyn finds an adornment even more alluring than the dahlia effects in the Vanderbilt and Whitney homes.

July.

Fat, far away, beyond the ripening wheat,
The forests stand in mantles of soft blue,
While, wreathed in music, near and heavenly sweet,
A lark soars singing from the meadow rue.

Along the roads, where sheltering sumacs grow,
A few wild roses linger and defy
The bright midsummer, but the elders' snow
Has melted in the sunshine of July.

Through fallow fields the scarlet fire weeds flame
Like little Gheber shrines among the grass,
And with their blazing blossoms worship claim
From all the pilgrim butterflies that pass.

A drowsy languor tinctures all the air;
And in the garden, nodding o'er the wall,
Tall hollyhocks weave scented shadows where
From fragile stems red poppy petals fall.

Small, spiky pinks about the dooryard shine,
Bright orange lilies sway along the walks,
And through the fence bold ragged robins twine
And clamber up the tallest sunflower stalks.

A warm breeze stirs the cedars and floats through
The feathery willows, while within the sky,
As white as wind flower buds against the blue,
The summer clouds go slowly blowing by.

So honey sweet the earth is, and so pure
The tender heaven bending overhead,
I think no heartache here could long endure,
Nor any pain remain uncomforted!
